SOCIETY UPDATES

Congratulations to Asgi Fazlebaes and Linda Guidice!

We are proud to congratulate SSR members Asgi Fazlebaes and Linda Guidice who have been awarded prestigious funding opportunities from the Office of Research for Women's Health (ORWH) at NIH. The awards, Understanding Chronic Conditions Understudied Among Women, called for innovative research addressing chronic conditions affecting women and individuals assigned female at birth.

Their work will focus on advancing our understanding of understudied chronic conditions among women, particularly those that disproportionately impact populations traditionally underrepresented and underreported in biomedical research. This is a significant step toward improving health outcomes for women in underserved communities.

Congratulations to Asgi Fazlebaes and Linda Guidice for this well-deserved recognition! We look forward to seeing the impact of your research.

Now Open: 2025 Heritage Honoree Nominations

The Heritage Committee is seeking nominations for the 2025 SSR Heritage Honoree. This honor is set to recognize a scientist who has been or is a member of SSR, who is no longer active in research, whether living or deceased, and whose research has had a sustained impact on the field of reproduction.

Last year's Heritage Committee Honoree was Dr. Ryuzo Yanagimachi. See the full list of previous winners here and consider submitting a nomination before December 6, 2024.

Closing Friday: Open Comment Period for the Proposed Revisions to the SSR Bylaws

The SSR Bylaws Committee was charged by the Board of Directors to make several revisions to the Bylaws to align with practices the SSR was already doing or plans to do soon. The changes were presented to the attendees at the 2024 Annual Business Meeting and are available for review on the SSR website. Your feedback is crucial in shaping our society's future, so we invite SSR members to provide their input. The open comment period will run until November 22, 2024.

We encourage you to take a moment to review the changes and submit any comments or suggestions. Following the member comment period, the Bylaws Committee will assess comments received for further proposed revisions, and if required, for Board approval. The revised bylaws will then be circulated to SSR Regular Members for a vote in December 2024.

Let's work together to ensure our Bylaws reflect the needs of our society!
